Water Wands and Garden Showers Specification Sheet

A water wand is what a customer buys when they are tired of bending over hanging baskets. The whole value of the product is reach, plus a head gentle enough not to knock the compost out of a pot. This family covers fixed 90 cm wands, telescopic 90 to 120 cm wands, shower heads, and a spike mounted garden shower for outdoor rinsing.

Why This Family Is Built This Way

- Fixed 90 cm and telescopic 90 to 120 cm versions of the same head
- Nine pattern and dedicated shower head options on the same tube
- Soft coated round handle variants for the upper price point
- Tie on card and blister packing suited to long products

Problems It Solves

- Hanging baskets and raised beds that cannot be reached with a hand gun
- Wand heads with too much force for seedlings and container plants
- Ranges that offer one wand length for every customer and garden
- Long products that are awkward to pack and merchandise

Questions Buyers Ask

What length are the wands?

The fixed wands are 90 cm. The telescopic models extend from 90 cm to 120 cm. Both figures come from the production specification and are printed on the product pages.

What is the difference between a shower head and a nine pattern head?

A shower head gives one soft rain like pattern and nothing else, which is what most plant customers want. A nine pattern head adds jet, mist, cone and flat settings on a dial for people who also rinse paths and furniture.

Do the wands fit the same connectors as the spray guns?

Yes. The wands use the same inlet as the spray guns, so they clip onto the connectors in our hose fitting family.

How are long products packed for shipping?

On a tie on card, in cartons around 96 cm long for the fixed wands. Exact carton dimensions and pieces per carton are on each product page.

Is the garden shower plumbed in?

No. The garden shower on a spike pushes into the ground and connects to a garden hose, so there is no installation work for the end customer.
